HEALTH CAREERS 2008-2009 SCHOLARSHIP GUIDE

A healthcare scholarship publication for the University of Kentucky and University of Louisville Area Health Education Centers

PURCHASE AHEC • NORTHWEST AHEC • WEST AHEC • SOUTH CENTRAL AHEC

Opportunity awaits

As our population ages the demand for health care grows. As that demand grows, so do opportunities for challenging, rewarding, good-paying careers.

The statistics are eye-opening, particularly in the nation's rural areas. For example, 25 percent of family physicians in Kentucky are 60 or older and nearing retirement. That figure grows to 40 percent in Eastern Kentucky. There are now approximately 1,700 nursing vacancies in Kentucky hospitals, or about 8 percent of the nursing positions. There are also shortages of dentists, physical therapists, respiratory therapists, certified nursing assistants, and on and on.

Many colleges, hospitals, civic groups, and individuals recognize the scope of one of health care's greatest challenges - maintaining the workforce. They also recognize the value of investing in students who are pursuing a healthcare career. To that end, many scholarships and tuition-reimbursement programs have been developed and funded.

This publication is a listing of those opportunities throughout Kentucky. It includes all of the counties of the University of Kentucky and University of Louisville's Area Health Education Center (AHEC) system, plus other scholarships that might be of interest to Kentuckians.

A major component of the AHEC mission is health careers education. This publication represents research by each regional AHEC staff into the scholarships that are specifically available for those entering health care. Though every effort was made to report all such scholarships, the list is not exhaustive, nor does it include the many scholarships that are not restricted specifically to health care.

We hope this will be a helpful guide to students, parents, counselors, and anyone who has an interest in healthcare education.

If you know of a health-related scholarship that is not listed in this publication, please phone 859-323-8018 to include it in next year's edition.
